1. Applies where edits have been made on hard copy and must be entered by typesetter.
2. Applies where manuscript pages must be scanned before being typeset.
3. Complex Pages refers to pages with multiple lists, tables, and other complex layout situations. May also include front matter and end matter such as inside title page, copyright page, table of contents, index, and other materials that precede or follow the body of the manuscript.
4. Any changes/additions by client to manuscript after first proof has been delivered to publisher for approval, but not including corrections to compositor errors.
5. Proof checking refers to comparing finished manuscript to provided hard copy.
6. Updates to manuscripts previously typeset by East Hill Page Composition may include charges for pages that have small changes or are altered by insertion of new material.
